

GLIMPSES OF CUBAN RAILROADING: 1996

Photography by J. W. Swanberg

Sugar mill workers rush to board ex-Hershey Cuban's No 3027 on March 22, 1996. Both the railway and the former Hershey Chocolate mill are owned by the government.

J. W. Swanberg

No. 1386, a 2-foot, 6-inch-gauge Baldwin-built 2-8-0, holds back 39 loads of cane rolling downgrade from a field-loading point in 1996. The region near Holguín, about 90 miles from Santiago, was developed following the completion of the standard-gauge Cuba Railroad.