

How Did He Do It?

Afterword by Thomas H. Garver

O. Winston Link's best-known photo, "Hotshot Eastbound at the Drive-In Movie, Iaeger, W. Va., 1956," was not the first published image of the scene.

The image used in the original 1957 Night Trick N&W booklet (above) contained a number of subtle differences, most notably the absence of an airplane on the movie screen. We asked his longtime associate to explain how Link created these images.
